Windows Runtime Component | C# | C++ | CE Signature is a seemingly rudimentary, yet powerful application that gives you the possibility to generate alphanumerical digital signatures based on two different types of content as well as two distinct passwords. It utilizes the SHA512 encryption method to increase security and lets you copy the new signature. Installer and portable editions separately available for 32- and 64-bit operating systems. The difference between the two is that the no-install version can be stored on a USB flash drive to directly run it on any PC. In either case, .NET Framework must be installed on the computer, otherwise it won't launch. Create text and passwords on the white sheet in the different boxes, all characters are counted (including blank space), and this value is displayed in the upper-left window corner. Create signatures instantly and dynamically for data protection.

Limitations: The software stores the signatures in a temporary folder (not external one) and creates them automatically, therefore the signatures are always generated for the last text entered. The software doesn't support user profiles, therefore you can't add different signatures to the same account and can't remove them. Version 1.0.0.0 NOTE: There is no trial version available.

But amidst the busyness that is the beginning of the holiday season, we need to stop and ask the question, "What am I giving to God?" While we may be busy buying gifts for family and friends this holiday season, we have time to pray for those who are suffering as the cold and flu season approaches.
