I decided to go with the HP's Jet 7500 printer. This was the first time I used their software and I figured it would be a breeze. Well I did the download and install, but it was a nightmare to set up. I finally figured out how to turn the printer on and off, and change the settings. At that point it started a huge printing job and all I got was a blank page. Back to the software, and I found out that my customer's printer requires that the files to be printed be scanned in first, then saved as a PDF. Well, I saved the files I needed to print as PDF's but could not get them to print. I have not had one problem with the printer since. I have recommended the Jet 7500 to several of our customers. I've tried several times to convert files by hand and it takes hours of endless trial and error. Add to Wish List Click the button below if you'd like to add this
