Terraria Xbox 360 ISO | Wii U, PS3, PS Vita, PS4, Xbox One. Terraria Xbox 360 ISO. Catalog Number: TT13-XBOX360. This invention relates to an apparatus and method for cleaning particulate matter from the surfaces of materials, such as metal and wood, and more particularly to such an apparatus and method as are suitable for removing paint from railroad boxcars. A paint sprayer is conventionally used for applying a coat of paint to railroad boxcars as they move along a track. The sprayer is mounted on the front bumper of the boxcar so that the sprayer sprays paint along the sidewalls of the car. If the car has been in storage, during which time it has accumulated particulate matter (e.g., dust) on the car's surfaces, these particles will also be coated with paint during the spray painting operation. If the paint on a boxcar has dried, the paint must be scraped off in order to prepare the boxcar for subsequent repainting. Otherwise, the paint would remain and would obscure the carriage of freight by the boxcar. In order to clean off the dried paint, a shopkeeper will remove the wooden panels on the boxcar so that the paint on the car's body can be scraped off. This process is not entirely effective since paint on the panels is often too deeply imbedded in the wood to be scraped off satisfactorily. Furthermore, this process is labor intensive because the wooden panels are must be removed before any paint can be scraped off the body of the car. Removal of the paint from the car's sides has also been attempted using a paint sprayer. The car will be moved toward the sprayer and a jet of paint will be sprayed along its side. After the paint is applied, the car will be moved away from the sprayer and allowed to dry. This can be a very labor intensive process, and if done improperly, the paint may not be removed from the car's side. This may be due to a number of factors, including the fact that the sprayer is mounted on the bumper of the car. If the car is moving too fast as it approaches the sprayer, paint may not be removed effectively. If the car is moving too slowly, paint may be removed from the car's sides only after the car has rolled onto its side and then rolled back into the sprayer's path. Furthermore, as the car continues to roll,
